Foreword

We, the staff of 1944, have tried to "spy" out the highlights of the past year and place these memories in our year book. We hope they will become precious to all of you as the years go by.

Dedication

Major Edward F. McClenahan

To Major Edward F. McClenahan, principal of Hampton High in the year 1940-1941, reported missing in action with the fall of the Philippines on May 7, 1942, this year book is proudly dedicated.

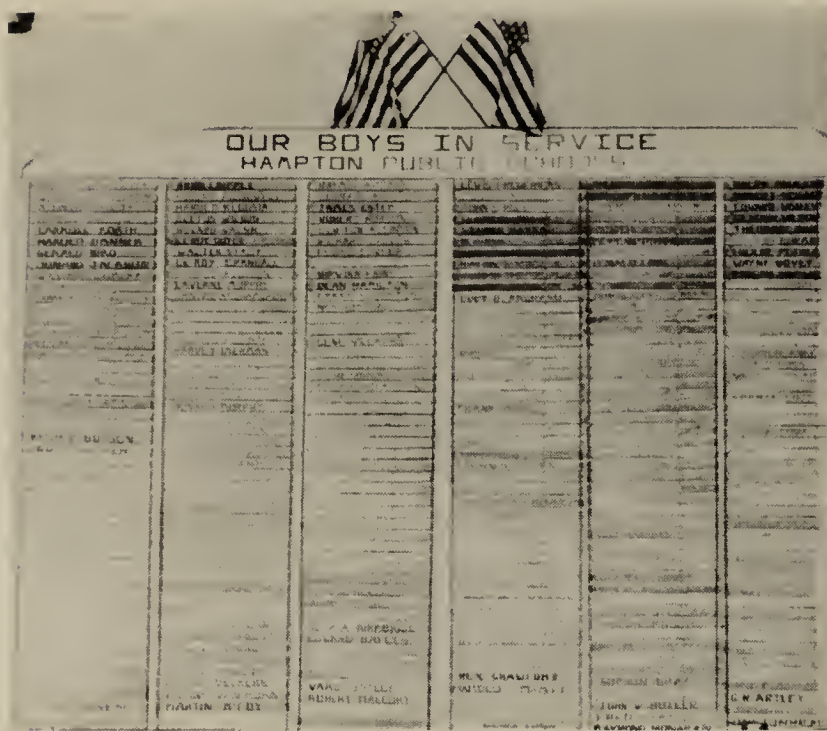

As a civilian he brought to Hampton High a spirit that has never died. As an officer he inspired the same loyalty in his men.

We can all remember him as he stood in front of the assembly, his sleeves rolled up, leading our high school yells. Here in peace time, he led many of our boys who now fight to keep American democracy. These boys and all the others who have graduated from Hampton High are gallantly fighting and carrying on in the brave footsteps of Major McClenahan. .

‡ Missing in action

These boys would have been graduated with the class of '44, but volunteered for duty before starting their senior year. We have missed them and their contributions as individuals to our class.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

FRONT ROW—(Left to right) D. D. Bramwell, Treasurer; J. C. Marschall; E. P. Gutz, President; Dan Whitney, Secretary.

Superintendent A. E. Rankin

A. E. Rankin, Superintendent of the Hampton Public Schools, for the past twenty-one eventful years, will terminate his fine service this coming June, 1944. One thousand, two hundred and seventy-five graduates have gratefully and with pride accepted their diplomas from his friendly hands. During his long tenure as the head of our schools, he has witnessed many interesting and agreeable changes for the better. Fine new buildings have been erected, vocational agriculture, home economics, Spanish, and chemistry have been added to the curriculum. His many students will not only miss him as their Superintendent, but they will also miss his friendly interest in their progress.

Principal D. M. Stewart

Mr. D. M. Stewart, principal of Hampton High, has been a real friend to us all these past two years. He is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers College and has taken five summer sessions of extra work at the University of Iowa, where he received his M. A. degree. Because he understands the necessity of the boys and girls having some form of recreation, he saw to it that we had an amusement room equipped with ping-pong tables and all sorts of games, which has been a real success. During the past summer he had charge of recruiting farm and agricultural industrial labor and received state recognition for his very successful work. He teaches mathematics and social science, and the whole student body thinks he's "tops".

D. M. Stewart

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers' College, and has his M. A. degree from the University of Iowa. Along with his strenuous task of being principal of Hampton High, he teaches senior social problems and freshman mathematics.

Lillian Mann

Miss Mann, who votes at Guthrie Center, Iowa, heads the mathematics department. Her length of service on the Hampton High faculty has been longer than any other teacher. She has successfully taught many of our graduate aviators their first mathematical principles.

Mrs. Helen Dirks

Mrs. Dirks, the head of our English Department, was a graduate of the State University of Iowa, where she received her B. A. degree. She has endeared herself to her students by her sympathetic understanding of their many problems. As head of our drama department she has enjoyed unusual success as dramatic director.

Ralph Dillon

Mr. Dillon entered Hampton High last spring. Previously he had been the Superintendent of McCallsburg. He has successfully inaugurated the installation of a chemistry course in Hampton. He's a trifle absent-minded but awfully nice.

Julia Mace

Miss Mace, our commercial teacher, is a graduate of Coe College and has successfully and enthusiastically promoted the commercial classes for the past four years. Her home is in Mason City.

Mary MacKay

Miss MacKay, our favorite "pin up girl," comes from the farthest point of any of our faculty, her home being in Madison, South Dakota. She teaches freshman and sophomore English, and has been responsible for the training of the newspaper and annual staffs. The senior class owes her a vote of thanks for her untiring effort in assisting us with the "Hi-Spy".

Dale W. Zaiger

Mr. Zaiger has been the head of the department of agriculture for the past five years. He is recognized as one of the leading high school agricultural teachers in the state. In 1940 he organized the first defense school in the state of Iowa. He also headed the Victory garden organization in Franklin county.

Mrs. Miriam Wassenaar

Mrs. Wassenaar, Spanish and Latin instructor, received her M. A. degree from the University of Minnesota. She was also a student at Morningside and the University of California. She has done much in promoting the good neighbor policy with South America among her pupils.

Edith Evans

Miss Evans, of Lime Springs, Iowa, took her vocational home-making training at Iowa State Teachers' College and at Iowa State College. This is her first year at Hampton, and she has proven herself to be a very capable instructor.

Marie Perkins

Miss Perkins is our pretty red-headed history teacher from Dows. She attained her B. A. degree from Coe College and has attended summer sessions at Iowa State Teachers College, Iowa University, and Drake.

Mrs. Harriet Stewart

Mrs. Stewart for the past school year has been zealously filling the shoes of the war-bound Mr. X. She received her B. A. degree at Iowa State Teachers College. She instructs the juniors in history.

W. M. Sherman

Mr. Sherman, the head of the industrial arts department, attended Iowa State College, University of Nebraska, and Iowa University. He has both B. S. degree and his M. S. degree.

Mrs. Sybil Sherman

Mrs. Sherman, who is the wife of W. M. Sherman, our industrial arts instructor, has been efficiently pinch-hitting in mathematics for the duration.

Peggy Christy

Miss Christy has had two years of work at MacMurray College for Women and finished her training at Drake University. She has only been with us three short months, but she has accomplished a great deal. She not only directs the vocal groups, but has helped our sadly neglected band students.

Mrs. Mabel Knott Beed

Mrs. Beed, our school nurse, has shown fine interest and aptitude towards her work. She is a registered nurse and served during the first World War.

Mary Bruehler

Miss Bruehler, our little dark-haired physical training teacher, has had a most strenuous year, instructing not only all of Hampton High, but Franklin and Park, also. She is a graduate of Briar Cliff.

Mr. Otto Huebner

Mr. Huebner has successfully coached football and basketball for the past year. The Hampton basketball team under his tutelage succeeded in reaching the Sub-State tournament, being defeated only by Waverly, the State champions.

Ruth Johnson

Miss Johnson, Mr. Rankin's "good girl Friday" is just as nice as she looks. She answers all the whys and wherefores of the students, keeps the records of all school activities, answers the phone, and numerous other things. She is a graduate of Hampton High.

Class History

Primary Training

In September of 1940 there arrived at Camp Hampton seventy new recruits for specialized training. They were formed into battalion 44 and were to go through four periods of training before completing their stay at Camp Hampton. Camp Commander A. E. Rankin and Troop Commander E. F. McClenahan inspected the wide-eyed rookies and turned them over to the top sergeants for formal initiation into an eager battalion of buck privates. Battalion 44 chose as their spokesman Clifford McBride with Bill Beckman and Waldo Bender supporting, and then bravely began training under such able lieutenants as Miss Mann, Miss VanLaningham and D. W. Zaiger. A bitter loss was suffered, however, when near the end of the term their beloved commander, Captain Edward McClenahan, answered a call to serve his country.

Basic Training

As we again view battalion 44 in September of 1941 we note that something new has been added, for as they proudly strut down the corridors of Camp Hampton, newly acquired Pfc. chevrons shine forth from their shoulders. We see Janet Gutz as newly elected leader with Jean Beemer and Gene Eitel in supporting roles. They also have a new commanding officer who is none other than genial, jovial C. E. Thomas, who issued quarter holiday passes as an incentive to resist evil to those who might be tempted to go A. W. O. L.

We see members of battalion 44 busily making plans for their respective futures, when over all plans roles a menacing, dark war cloud, changing plans and shattering certain ambitions. Commanding Officer C. E. Thomas answers the call to battle along with various others from Camp Hampton.

Advanced Training

In September of 1942, battalion 44 entered into its third period of training with a determined but care-free air.

Its ranks had been somewhat thinned by flunks, transfers, and Uncle Sam, but it proudly paraded past the reviewing stand to the tune of "Roll Out The Barrel." The leader of the chivalrous corporals was Shirley Woodley, attended by Waldo Bender and Gene Eitel.

Many individuals began to emerge from the ranks as outstanding leaders in athletics, art, drama, music, speech, journalism, science and commercial fields. The new commanding officer appointed to Camp Hampton was smiling, friendly, hard-working Duane M. Stewart, who introduced fatigue duty (K. P.) into Camp Hampton under the heading of "detention."

The year was high-lighted by many outstanding athletic, musical and social events, and was climaxed by a three-month furlough for all.

Combat Training

The 44th batallion composed of fifty-nine eager and willing top sergeants proudly entered their fourth period of training, which was to have sent them out prepared to face and conquer any foe which they might meet in life's great battle. They elected as their captain, Norman Gulick, seconded by Helen Brandt, Delos Lind and Bill Ressler.

The honor and glory of the fighting Forty-fourth was upheld many times during the year by its members heroically distinguishing themselves on the gridiron, basketball court, baseball diamond, in writing, over the air, and through drama, art, music and scientific research. Because of the existing war conditions, many members of the 44th enlisted in or made plans for immediate enlistment in the various men's and women's services of the United States.

The final training period rapidly drew to a close, crowned by exhilarating dramatic and social events, the climax of which were final commencement exercises from whence goeth battalion 44 ready to fight the battles of life and reinforce the annuls of "Who's Who" with their names.

The Bulldogs started off to a poor season, but about mid-season they found themselves and started playing championship football.

Most of the team had little or no previous experience and Hampton High looks forward to a highly successful season next year.

One of the highlights of the season was when Hampton held Webster City, the conference champs, to a 12 to 6 score with Hampton on the two foot line as the game ended.

Basketball

As we look back upon the basketball season of 1944 we can't help but show a feeling of pride and gratitude to the team for their splendid work. The Hampton Bulldogs came through this year with 17 wins and only 7 losses; they placed second in the North Central Conference and were runners-up in the sub-state tournament. Their record at the sub-state tournament was one which is unsurpassed for twenty-one years.

The Bulldog basketeers started the season with a "bang," under the skillful direction of Coach Huebner, with some last-year veterans, and some new players to take up the unfinished task.

It will long be remembered how the basketeers trampled Hansell, Ackley, Forest City, Denver and West Waterloo, and how their slogan of, "Fight to The Finish," carried them through a successful year.

Gene Eitel
His amazing speed and maneuverability made him one of the most valuable men on the team and gave him honorable mention on the all state team.

Waldo Bender
His excellent floorplay and teamwork enabled him to go through the season with a splendid record.

Bill Beckman
An excellent left-handed shot and a reliable guard, who was forced to quit in mid-season because of injuries received in football.

Jess Palmer
His great rebounding ability plus his excellent basket shooting made him seventh center on the all state teams.

Gene Hardy
Gene, who surprised all of Hampton with 24 points in the Forest City game, was indeed a very valuable asset to the team.

John Kratz
The best defensive man on the team. He helped to hold down the opponents' scores, and thus enabled us to win.

In Memoriam

F. O. Griffen

"Hya, Pop," the whole gang shouted as we ran into the band room at three minutes to eight every Tuesday and Friday morning, hoping we could get our music and instruments out before he tapped his baton to start. We usually made it on time, for we knew if we didn't, he'd give us one of his speeches, which he enjoyed giving as much as we enjoyed listening to.

Mr. Griffen gave eleven years of his devoted services to the many students of Hampton high who came under his direction.

He came to us from Hartley, Iowa, where he had won first for his band thirty-two consecutive times. In Hampton he led our band to victory many times and was ever on the alert to put us on top.

More than the material gains are those ideals and ambitions which he inspired in his students, which cannot be measured, and for which we honor him now in this year book. We shall all carry on where he left off, knowing he would feel that his work had never ended.

He was widely known throughout the Middlewest and was former president of the Iowa Bandmaster's Association. He wrote six sets of band books, including Foundation for Band Play, a best seller.

He died on July 15, 1943.

Swing Shift

Our co-editors, Joyce Boehmler and Janet Gutz, with our able advisor, Miss MacKay, scraped up a scrappy scrap book of scrumptious snaps.

Cliff clipped close-ups of class cuties. Mary smuggled in furtive facts on the faculty. Doug dug the dirt for the drama.

Don done listened to his team-mates tips. Delos bossed the masses of classes.

Could you mix business with history? Maurice dood it!!! It took Bill's skill to write a dill of a will.

Jean Beemer and Lila Finnell in charge of the senior section paint a pretty picture of a perfect pair of colossal class co-operators.

Merna, our admirable artist; Anna Marie had a hand with the band; Ruth wrote the truth in the activity booth.

Miss Mann's monetary motions motivated the annual.

Student Council

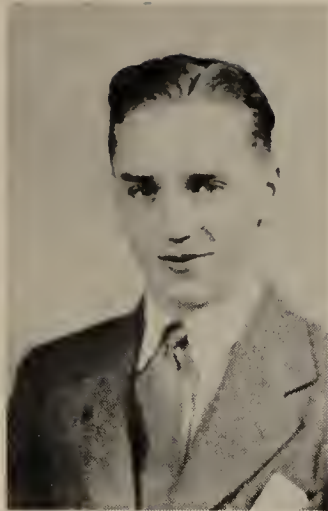

The Student Council, a representative group of the senior high school, was formed the latter part of the year in an attempt to carry out the wishes of the student body. The group consists of representatives from each home room and the president of each class.

The Student Council formulated the rules of the recreation room, and, along with that, set up a ping pong tournament. They nominated three boys and three girls who were to be given a write-up in the annual as a typical senior boy and girl of Hampton high school. On April 21, 1944, the Student Council sponsored a "victory dance" in honor of the basketball team.

Big plans are being made for the Student Council of next year. It is thought at the present time that they will have charge of bond drives, homecoming, and any other special days that might occur.

SCARLET-BLACK STAFF COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Nine Members Graduate

During the school year of forty-three and forty-four the high school newspaper staff under the direction of Miss Mary MacKay edited and sent to the press twenty-four editions of the "Scarlet and Black."

Co-editors, Delos Lind and Maurice Coburn, attribute the paper's success to the untiring effort and constant co-operation of the thirty-one members on their staff.

Some of the outstanding journalists of the year were Charlene Neuberger and Joyce Ward, whose gossip column was a regular feature of the "Scarlet and Black"; Marilyn Morrow, an outstanding feature writer, whose stories were enjoyed before she left Hampton High; Joyce Abbes, whose sense of humor made her features enjoyed by all; Bill Weeks, who handled the sports department with the skill of a veteran; Ruth Philpott and Arnelda Bergman, who worked untiringly at any job given them; Isabel Kracht and Camille Ammerman, whose skillful reporting and smiling co-operation were very valuable; Edith Vietor, Marion Walsh, and James Stark, whose hard work was greatly appreciated; Co-editors Coburn and Lind, who made out assignments and alternated at editorial writing, column writing, reporting and typing; efficient typists Gilberta Conway, Helen Brandt, Doris Lind, Imogene Mahncke, and Delores Simons; and cub reporters Audrey Argent, Betty Johnson, Verla Lutzke, Eula Sharp, and Pat Wright, without whose inspiring confidence and reporting the staff would have been crippled.

One Act Plays

HURRICANE HILL

Here we have a taste of drama, leaning slightly towards being good melodrama. Brilliant playing was done by all members of the cast. Dick Lieben-dorfer played Doctor Scott, Frances Artley, Gail, the daughter of Lem (Don Starner), and Flossie (Helen Craighton). Some excellent last day understudy was done by Clifford McBride in the part of Steve, the sheriff. The part was originally cast to Don Scantlebury, who worked so dilligently on it, but sickness doesn't care whom it strikes. Jean Shearer played Ella Williams, the first victim of the diphtheria epidemic and Jane Weeks was Edith, a little doubtful about the inoculation.

UNDERTOW

Hampton's first heavy drama for some time. Eerie suspense reigned throughout, except for slight relief given to us by members of the Historical Society—gracious Miss Susan (Anna Marie Moorhead), Mary Ann (Lillian Witte), who said things at the wrong time, Mrs. Wood (Muriel Tucker), who just didn't have much to say; Mrs. Stickner (Ruth Furman), who had plenty to say, and had said it before, together with Mrs. Kitzmuller (Jean Harrison), and Mrs. Sorensen (Barbara Branan), who enjoyed a little gossip now and then, and the new visiting member Mrs. Grant (Lila Finnell). Joan Wright as Abby and Jean Beemer as Rosalie did professional jobs in their acting.

A CERTAIN JUST MAN

This story of a man wishing to gain entrance through the portals of eternity was the dramatic offering for the Easter season.

Josia Bancroft (Douglas Bredt), claiming to have been a "just man, always," was taken by a guide (Betty Johnson) to review the last hour of his life. In the office of his secretary, Miss Allen (Bonnie Beckman), Josia saw how selfish he had been toward Mr. Kennedy (Orval Herman), a minister, and Mrs. Wilkins (Velma Botts). He turned against even Molly (Beverly Schear), his daughter. He sees his mistakes, repents, and is ushered into Heaven by the Keeper of the King's Gate (Clifford McBride).

THE WOOER AND THE WARBLERS

Clever arranging of old time songs and gay costumes made this "between-acts" skit something to sit up and take notice of.

The girls trio, Lila Finnell, Janet Gutz and Patricia Hamilton, sang the parts of the warblers while the surprise appearance of Bob Malnory, usually found listed under "stage crew," as the wooer, topped the production.

NOBODY SLEEPS

The comedy of the evening. Here we have a burglar, with "big feet and no brains," trying valiantly to rob a house. By the time the three daughters—Daisy (Pat Wright), Ada (Lois Gutz), and Glory (Bethine Larson), finish making their suggestions and offering their all too willing help, besides Mrs. Busby's (Mary Stuart) insistent interview for inspiration for her latest novel, the thief is quite willing to call the whole thing off. The thief, who is Clarence Hoaganhurst, alias Spike (John Kratz), sudden revelation of his real occupation by saying—"I've got an early morning paper route"—was the laugh of the show.

Skidding

The junior class presented a chapter from the lives of the Judge Hardy family. Judge Hardy (Don Starner) and Mrs. Hardy (Joan Wright) were the proud parents of Andy (Don Clay), at the adolescent age, and Marian (Frances Artley), who has taken strong interest in politics, and Wayne Trenton III (Dick Liebendorfer), at the same time. Grandpa Hardy (John Kratz) and Aunt Milly (Janet Foster) hold the family together when marriage troubles arise between Myra Hardy Wilson (Arnelda Bergmann) and Estelle Hardy Campbell (Beverly Schear). All turns out well, especially when Mr. Stubbens (Gene Hardy), the press agent returns with the news of Judge Hardy's election as district judge and Marian's election to the legislature. Expert direction and skillful acting accounted for the professional finish.

Senior Class Play

"Brother Goose"

"I'm the lady of the house. Sort of a Mother Goose. More of a Brother Goose, I should think." That was Jeff (Clifford McBride). He took care of his flock, his sisters, Carol (Betty Ann Sharp), who answers radio contests, Hyacinth (Shirley Woodley), football star and general trouble maker, and Wesley (Douglas Bredt), whose prime interest is the fair sex. To start the worries, Helen (Helen Brandt), the maid quits. Peggy (Jean Beemer) comes to the door to sell hosiery and stays to keep house. Jeff's chief worries are finishing his architecture contracts for Mrs. Trimmer (Janet Gutz) for her Wee Blue Inn, and Lenore's (Joyce Boehmler) new home. Wes' dazzle dish is Eve (Mary Stuart), who just moved next door from the south with her family and colored maid, Sarah (Virginia Jones). Hy's trouble with the truck drivers (Morris Cuburn and Keith Collins) proves fortunate for all concerned.

Snap

You'd like a representative Hampton senior girl. She has charm and poise, wide interests and vitality. She's sound mentally, morally, and physically.

A sports fan? You bet! And she may dabble in tennis, basketball, or Beed's Lake herself. She's a pretty busy person as you could plainly see at music contest time or during the production of the one-act plays. She also might be trying to garner in a few A's—Oh yes, there are men in her life—either in person or via air mail postal service.

REPRESENTATIVE SENIOR

Jean Beemer

Maurice Coburn

Jean Beemer and Maurice Coburn were elected by the faculty from a group of six seniors for students who had been nominated for this honor by the Student Council.

BOY AND GIRL

Boy—He doesn't have to be tall, dark, and magnetic, but he may very well be! Without a doubt, his mind, individually and collectively, is concerned pretty deeply with "Next year, what?" He may just have completed a successful sport season, or he may have been spending his time with "Doc" Dillon up in the lab. Wherever his interests lie, he's been occupied and fairly happy, in spite of his restless urge to get going and doing—Good luck!

Junior High Faculty

C. W. Polk, Junior High Principal

Mr. Polk broke a long standing precedent of the Hampton Junior High. He became the first man to complete a year as principal of the junior high. Prior to his coming to Hampton he was the superintendent of schools at Adair. In his present position he is enjoying fine success. He holds both his B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Iowa. Aside from his many duties as principal of junior high, he teaches mathematics and helps with the boys' physical fitness program.

Gladys Darrah

Miss Darrah, who has taught school in junior high for twenty-six years, is without question the most beloved and long remembered by hundreds of her former pupils. She has given herself whole-heartedly toward the advancement of her boys and girls.

Catherine Galagan

Miss Galagan, after five very successful years on the junior high faculty, has been elected as one of the high school instructors for this coming fall. She has her B. A. from Iowa State Teachers' College.

Irene Casey

Miss Casey received her training at the Iowa State Teachers' College, and she also has had a summer session at Boulder. She teaches junior high English along with seventh grade spelling.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We'd like to have you all know what a pleasure it was to work with Mr. Knueppel, our photographer, who gave unsparingly of his time and effort, and whose excellent pictures we know you will enjoy.

We'd also like to thank Dwight V. Purcell, publisher, for his help and advice; and Mr. Rankin, Mr. Stewart and the entire faculty for their cooperation.

To Miss MacKay, our wonderful advisor, to Miss Mann and the entire staff, we give our sincere thanks.

The Editors

Janet and Joyce
